Table of Contents

1 The Basics of Leadership 1

1.1. Leadership and Leaders 1
1.2. Historical Review of 'Leadership' 2
1.3. How to Define Leadership? 3
1.3.1. Definitions of Leadership Through the Century 3
1.4. How to Conceptualize Leadership? 7
1.5. Components of Leadership 7
1.6. Description of Leadership 9
1.6.1. Process Versus Trait 9
1.6.2. Emergent Versus Assigned 10
1.6.3. Power and Leadership 11
1.6.4. Coercion and Leadership 13
1.6.5. Management and Leadership 14

1.7. Myths Regarding Leadership 16
1.8. The Three Levels of Leadership 18
1.9. Styles of Leadership 19
1.1 References 20

2 Trait Theory of Leadership 21

2.1 Introduction 21
2.2 Theories of Leadership: Role and Significance 24
2.3 Trait Theory: History 25
2.4 Concept of Trait Theory 26
2.5 Attributes or Qualities of Trait Theory 28
2.6 Overview of Traditional and Modern Trait Theory of Leadership 32
2.7 Practical Application of Trait Theory of Leadership 34
2.8 Arguments Against Trait Theory of Leadership 36
2.9 Great Man Theory and Trait Theory 38
2.10 References 41

3 Skills Approach: An Overview 42

3.1 Introduction 42
3.2 Three Skill Approach 43
3.2.1 Technical Skill 44
3.2.2 Human Skills 44
3.2.3 Conceptual Skill 45
3.3 Three-Skill Approach: A Summary 46
3.4 Competencies 48
3.5 Individual Attributes 52
3.6 Leadership Outcomes 54
3.6.1 Environmental Influences 55
3.6.2 Career Experiences 57
3.7 Summary of the Skills Model 58
3.8 The Operations of Skills Approach 58
3.9 Skills Approach: Strengths 60
3.10 Criticism 61
3.11 References 64

4 Behavioral Approach to Leadership 65

4.1 Introduction 65

4.2 Behavioral Approach 68
4.2.1 Employee Centered Leadership 68
4.2.2 Production Centered Leadership 68
4.2.3 Criticism of the Behavioral Approach 69
4.3 Theories of Behavioral Approaches 69
4.3.1 Michigan Studies 70
4.3.2 Ohio State University Leadership Studies 71
4.4 Leadership in Work Place 73
4.5 Modern Leadership 77
4.6 References 79

5 Situational leadership 81
5.1 Introduction 81
5.2 Types of Approach to a Situation 83
5.3 Stages of Maturity 84
5.4 Working Principles of Situational leadership 85
5.4.1 Potency of Situational Approach 87
5.4.2 Drawbacks of the Situational Approach 89
5.5 Various Applications of Situational Leadership 94
5.6 References 97

6 Importance of Path Goal Theory of Leadership 98
6.1 Introduction 98
6.2 Distributed or Shared Leadership 100
6.2.1 Factors Impacting the Team Leadership 101
6.2.2 Effectiveness of a Team 102
6.3 Components of the Path Goal Theory 107
6.3.1 Behavior of the Leader 107
6.3.2 Characteristics of Follower 108
6.3.3 Task Characteristics 109
6.4 Working Principle of the Path Goal Theory 110
6.4.1 Strength of the Path Goal Theory 112
6.4.2 Criticisms Surrounding the Path Goal Theory 113
6.4.3 Applications of the Path Goal Theory 114
6.5 Environmental Characteristics of the Workplace 114
6.6 References 116

7 The Theory of Leader Member Exchange 117
7.1 Introduction 117
7.2 Advances in the LMX Leadership Theory 118
7.3 Procedure of the LMX Theory 120
7.4 Consequences of the LMX Theory 121
7.5 Various Aspects of LMX 121
7.5.1 Relations of the Organization in LMX 122
7.5.2 Organizational Support and LMX 123
7.5.3 Commitment and LMX 124
7.6 Relative LMX and LMX Differentiation 126
7.7 Strengths of LMX 128
7.8 Criticisms of LMX Theory 129
7.9 Applications of LMX theory 130
7.10 Requirement of Further Research for LMX 131
7.11 References 132

8 Transformational Leadership in the Contemporary Perspective 133
8.1 Introduction 133
8.2 Transformational Leadership: Definition 134
8.3 Transformational Leadership Versus Transactional Leadership 134
8.4 Charisma and Transformational Leadership 136
8.5 A Transformational Leadership Model 139
8.6 Transformational Leadership Elements 140
8.7 Other Perspectives of Transformational Leadership 146
8.8 Operations in Transformational Approach in Leadership 150
8.9 Strengths of the Transformational Leadership 151
8.10 Criticism of Transformational Leadership 153
8.11 References 155

9 Authentic Leadership 156
9.1 Introduction 156
9.2 Defining Authentic Leadership 157
9.3 Approach to Authentic Leadership 159
9.4 Practical Approach 159
9.4.1 The Authentic Leadership Approach of Bill George 159

9.5 Theoretical Approach 164
9.5.1 Theoretical Approach's Background 164
9.5.2 The Constituents of Authentic Leadership 167
9.5.3 Aspects which Affect Authentic Leadership 169
9.6 The Working Process of the Authentic Leadership Theory 172
9.7 The Strengths of Authentic Leadership 173
9.8 The Criticisms Related to Authentic Leadership 174
9.9 The Application of Authentic Leadership 176
9.10 References 179

10 Servant Leadership 180

10.1 An Introduction to Servant Leadership 180
10.1.1 Servant Leadership Defined 181
10.1.2 Servant Leadership's Historical Basis 182
10.1.3 The Servant Leader's Top 10 Attributes 184
10.1.4 Coming Up with a Theory Based on Servant Leadership 187
10.2 Servant Leadership Model 189
10.2.1 The Conditions of the Antecedents 189
10.2.2 The Behaviors of the Servant Leaders 191
10.2.3 The Outcomes of Servant Leadership 194
10.3 The Working Mechanism of Servant Leadership 196
10.4 The Strengths of Servant Leadership 198
10.5 The Criticisms Related to Servant Leadership 199
10.6 The Application of Servant Leadership 200
10.7 References 202

11 Adaptive Leadership 203

11.1 Introduction 203
11.1.1 Defining Adaptive Leadership 204
11.2 Adaptive Leadership Model 206
11.2.1 Circumstantial Challenges 207
11.2.2 Procedural Challenges 207
11.2.3 Adaptive and Technical Challenges 208
11.2.4 Adaptive Challenges 208
11.2.5 The Behavior of the Leaders 209
11.2.6 Adaptive Work 210
11.3 Working Mechanism of Adaptive Leadership 210
11.4 References 212

12 Psychodynamic Approach on Leadership 213
12.1 Introduction 213
12.2 The Medico-clinical Pattern of Analysis 214
12.3 History Behind the Development of the Psychodynamic Approach 216
12.4 Basic Factors and Concepts of the Psychoanalytical Approach 218
12.4.1 Highlighting the Inner Dimension of Experience 218
12.4.2 Focus on Executive Subordinate Relationship 218
12.5 Social Protection Mechanisms 220
12.6 Idealizing and Imitating 220
12.7 Identification of Aggressor and Subsequent Metamorphosis to Aggression 221
12.7.1 Folie à Deux 221
12.7.2 Highlighting the Darker Side of Leadership 222
12.8 Working Mechanism of the Psychodynamic Approach 223
12.9 Specific Strength and Advantages 224
12.10 Specific Criticism and Disadvantages 225
12.11 Application of the Psychodynamic Approaches 225
12.12 Group Coaching 226
12.13 References 229

13 Ethical Leadership 230
13.1 Introduction 230
13.2 Attributes of Ethical Leadership 232
13.3 Leader and His Role in Promoting Ethical Behavior 235
13.4 Ethical Theories 237
13.5 Ethical Code of Conduct and Ethical Leadership 239
13.6 Pros and Cons of Ethical Leadership 241
13.7 Perspective of Ethical Leadership 245
13.8 References 247

14 Leading a Team with Efficiency 248
14.1 Introduction 248
14.2 Advancement of Leadership 251
14.2.1 Styles of Specific Leadership 253
14.3 Model of Team Leadership 255
14.3.1 Expansion of Leadership Skills in a Team 258

14.3.2 Effectiveness of Team 261
14.4 References 265

15 Roles of Gender in Determining Leadership 266

15.1 Introduction 266
15.2 Gender 267
15.3 Leadership 270
15.4 Character 271
15.5 Gender and Character 272
15.5.1 Gender Stereotypes 272
15.5.2 Style of the Leadership 273
15.6 Character, PITO, and Gender 275
15.7 Competence 276
15.7.1 Gender and Competence 277
15.7.2 PITO, Gender, and Competence 280
15.8 Context 280
15.8.1 Context and Styles of Leadership 281
15.8.2 Gender with Stress 282
15.9 Communication 283
15.9.1 Gender and Communication 283
15.10 References 284

16 Culture and Leadership 285

16.1 Introduction 285
16.2 Defining Work Culture 286
16.3 Dimension of Culture 288
16.3.1 Gender Egalitarianism 288
16.3.2 Performance Direction 289
16.3.3 The Influence of Power 289
16.3.4 Risk Avoiding Nature 290
16.3.5 Humane Orientation 290
16.3.6 Collective Contribution 290
16.3.7 Far-sightedness 291
16.3.8 In-group Collectivism 291
16.3.9 Assertiveness 291
16.4 Culture Clusters and Leadership Behavior 293
16.5 Change of Organization Through Effective Leadership 294

16.6 Cultural Disadvantages of Leadership Styles 295
16.7 Creating a Conceptual Categories and a Common Language 296
16.8 Leadership Instrument 297
16.9 Evolution of Leadership and Culture 298
16.10 References 300

Index 301